John is a director in the Immigration Practice group.

Prior to joining McCandlish Holton, John practiced employer-based immigration law with boutique law offices in Beaverton, Oregon and Richmond, Virginia, representing clients needing technology experts, athletes, and chefs. He is a member of the Ohio State Bar and is authorized to practice immigration law nationwide.

John earned his Juris Doctor in 2013, graduating cum laude from the Cleveland-Marshall College of Law at Cleveland State University. His law degree is complemented with a Bachelor of Science in Business Management from Utah Valley University. During law school, John clerked at the Department of Justice: Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) in Cleveland, Ohio. John also received an externship with the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) chief counsel's office in Cleveland, Ohio.

When not assisting clients, John enjoys spending time with his wife and four children (one girl and three boys) and spends almost all his free time attending their various sporting events.
